Today's Features Clemson vs. Maryland October 30, 1993 Parents' Day

5 Brent LeJeune

Brent LeJeune is 100 percent cajun, but he has given 100 percent on the gridiron for four years. He is closing his Clemson career with his best season. Annabelle Vaughan profiles this Tiger who knows his way around New Orleans at Mardi Gras time.

7 Theo Young

Young is one of the youngest fulltime assistant coaches in the nation. He was a solid receiver at Arkansas under Ken Hatfield and now he is tutoring Clemson's talented group of receivers. Having played collegiately just a few years back, he can relate to today's college football player.

49 Jamie Fidler

Clemson football manager Jamie Fidler has been honored by the College Football Association as a Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow recipient. Fidler, who has posted an outstanding record in the classroom, is one of 67 designated students across the country who will receive a $5,000 scholarship this year.

51 Women's Track

Coach Wayne Coffman's women's track program returns three All-Americans from last year's outstanding team that ranked among the best programs in the South. The Lady Tigers should once again challenge for the ACC championship.

61 NFL Executives

Fifteen years ago Jerry Butler and Dwight Clark led Clemson to victory in a battle of top 15 teams in College Park. Today, both have retired after All-Pro careers in the NFL. But, they haven't left the game; both are making their mark in the front office in their respective NFL franchises.

73 Mother-of-the-Year

Each year Tiger Brotherhood selects the Clemson Mother-of-the-Year. Turn to page 73 to read about this year's selection.

109 Clemson Swimming

The Clemson swimming program might have the largest group of young athletes of any sport at Tigertown. However, the rosters include many newcomers who have significant national and international experience. Jim Sheridan's teams hope to take advantage of a schedule that features many home meets.

111 War Years Football

World War II had a profound effect on all aspects of life in the United States. College football kept going at the request of President Franklin Roosevelt. Many students, especially at Clemson, then a military school, were transient. Some athletes were playing for schools while they weren't even enrolled.

112 Banks McFadden

It will be hard for anyone to top Banks McFadden's contributions to Clemson. As an athlete he was an All-American in two sports and had two different numbers retired. He served as the head basketball coach and as an assistant football coach. For nearly 60 years he has been a goodwill ambassador for Clemson University.

Today's Game

Tiger-Terp Series

Maryland owns more victories over Clemson in Death Valley than any other school. The Terps have beaten Clemson 10 times in Memorial Stadium, two more victories than N.C. State has obtained. Clemson and Maryland have split the previous 20 meetings here, but Clemson has won each of the last three. Maryland's last win at Clemson took place in 1985, a 34-31 triumph.

Clemson will attempt to tie the all-time series between the two clubs with a victory Saturday. Maryland holds a 20-19 lead in the series, regardless of site, and there have been two ties. Maryland won last year in College Park, 53-23, but Clemson won the last meeting in Death Valley, 40-7 in 1991, in a game that virtually clinched the ACC championship for the Tigers. Clemson won five in a row over Maryland between 1987-91.

This is the 15-year anniversary of perhaps the most exciting game in the history of the series. In 1978, Clemson entered the game in College Park ranked 12th in the nation with a 8-1 record. The Terps were ranked 11th and had a 9-1 mark. The winner was headed for the Gator Bowl to meet Ohio State, and more importantly, would be ACC champion.

The two teams went back and forth, up and down the field. Clemson featured the passing of Steve Fuller and the receiving of Jerry Butler and Dwight Clark. The pass-catching duo had 208 of Clemson's 216 receiving yards, and Clemson also gained 228 yards on the ground. Maryland was led by Steve Atkins, who got Maryland back in the game with a 98-yard run, the longest run against Clemson in history. Clemson controlled the line of scrimmage for the last five minutes and gained the victory, 28-24. Clemson had lost to Maryland six straight years prior to that 1978 victory.

Maryland Update

The Clemson-Maryland game promises to be an interesting matchup of unusual offenses. The Terps use the run-and-shoot, an attack that features four wide receivers most of the game. Clemson will run the flexbone, an attack that features three running backs. Each team used the attack to gain significant yardage in a victory in its most recent game.

Maryland is led by quarterback Scott Milanovich. The junior has already passed for 2620 yards in just seven games and will certainly move into second place on Maryland's single season passing yardage list. Dan Henning had 2725 yards in 1986. The record is 3392 set last year by John Kaleo. Milanovich is second in the nation in total offense with 337 yards per game, yes even more than the heralded Charlie Ward. Milanovich is the major reason Maryland is second in the nation in passing and 14th in total offense.

Additionally, Milanovich's 185 completions already rank fourth for a single season in Terp history and he has tied Boomer Esiason's single-season Terp record for scoring passes with 18. That might be the most impressive of his accomplishments considering the tradition of great quarterbacks at Maryland over the years.

Jermaine Lewis is the favorite Terp receiver with 47 catches for 901 yards and seven touchdowns. That is an average of 6.7 receptions and 129 yards per game. He is on his way to breaking many records set last year by Marcus Badgett. But, he better watch out for teammate Russ Weaver, who is second in the ACC in receptions with 41. Lewis is ninth in the nation in receptions per game, while Weaver is 19th. Lewis ranks fourth in the country with 129 receiving yards per game.

Mark Mason gives Maryland a running attack that keeps Terp opponents honest. For the first time in his career Mason has been healthy and he has gained nearly 500 yards. He ranks among the top five rushers in the ACC and has over half of the Maryland rushing yards.

Maryland led the ACC in total offense last year (really, it wasn't Florida State) with 466 yards a game, fourth best in the nation. They have continued that pace this year which led to these words from Penn State coach Joe Paterno earlier this year: "Offensively, Maryland has been unstoppable, literally unstoppable, and they haven't been playing the little Sisters of the Poor."

Seegars Knocking on 200 Knockdowns Door

Stacy Seegars, an All-American in 1992 as a junior, had eight knockdown blocks against East Tennessee State. Seegars, who has 34 knockdowns this year, now has 189 for his four-year career. He needs 11 knockdowns to become the fourth player in Clemson history to reach 200 career knockdowns. The others are Eric Harmon, who had 272 between 1987-90, Jeb Flesch, who had 267 between 1988-91, and John Phillips, who had 245 between 1985-88. It should be noted that Seegars' totals are lower this year simply because of a new grading system under new offensive coordinator Whitey Jordan. Seegars has averaged five knockdowns a game and Jordan has had just a handful of players over the last 10 years average five knockdowns a game.

LeJeune Grades Over 80 Again

Offensive tackle Brent LeJeune has graded at least 80 percent in every game this season. He had an 84 percent mark last week against East Tennessee State. He had an 87 percent mark for 81 plays against Wake Forest, his highest mark of the season. LeJeune has now led Clemson in blocking grade in five of the seven games this year. He has added 20 knockdowns.

Smith vs. Maryland

Clemson wide receiver Terry Smith has had some of his greatest days as a receiver against Maryland, so it would be fitting if he could break the Clemson career reception record against the Terps. For his career, Smith has 22 receptions for 330 yards against Maryland. The native of Clemson has more catches for more yards against Maryland than any other opponent.

Smith has had a career high nine receptions in a game twice in his career and both games have been against Maryland. Smith had nine receptions for 84 yards in Clemson's 18-17 win in 1990, a Tiger record for receptions by a freshman in a single game. Last year in College Park he equaled that catch total for a then career high 126 yards. He has broken his personal best in reception yardage this year with 156 yards against Florida State.

Smith has had five 100-yard receiving games in his career and two have come against Maryland. The native of Clemson needs just nine receptions to become Clemson's career leader. He now has 18 catches this year and 142 for his career. The record is 150 set by Perry Tuttle between 1978-81. Smith is currently in second place in Clemson history in terms of receptions and yardage.

Flexbone Improves Production

Clemson installed the flexbone offense in its victory over East Tennessee State last Saturday and the result was a season high in terms of total offense, touchdowns, rushing offense and time of possession. The Tigers gained 410 yards in total offense, 278 yards in rushing offense, had four touchdowns and held the ball for 36:54 in the 27-0 victory over the Buccaneers.

The Tigers started three running backs, a tight end and one wide receiver, but had many plays in which they ran two wide receivers and no tight ends. Clemson had 11 different ball carriers in the game, a season high. Derrick Witherspoon, Clemson's leading rusher for the season, was the top rusher for the day with 67 yards in 13 attempts. Milt Shaw contributed 64 yards in just seven attempts, including the most exciting run of the season, a 32-yarder after he had been hemmed in by five Buccaneers behind the line of scrimmage.

The flexbone was first used at the college level by Ken Hatfield when he was the head coach at Air Force. It is an offspring of the wishbone, but it has the advantage of being more useful in passing situations because of the alignment of the halfbacks. They are more of a threat in the passing game from the position in relation to the line of scrimmage.

Hatfield used this offense in 1982 and 1983 when he turned around the Air Force program. In 1982 his Air Force team defeated Notre Dame, went to a bowl game and ranked ninth in the nation in total offense with an average of 425 yards per game. The next year Air Force won 10 games, including a win over a Notre Dame team that went to a Bowl game and averaged 460 yards a game in total offense, the fourth highest average in the nation. Hatfield was named National Coach-of-the-Year in 1983.

Welch Moves Up List

Nelson Welch booted two field goals against East Tennessee State and now has 49 for his career. He is now third in Clemson history in career field goals, as he trails only Chris Gardocki and Obed Ariri, who both had 63 field goals in their respective careers. Welch moved ahead of David Treadwell (now with the New York Giants), who had 47 career field goals between 1985-87.

Welch is also moving up the career points scored list. Welch has eight points against the Buccaneers and now has 34 points for the season. Welch has led the ACC in scoring each of the last two years, the first player in league history to lead the conference in that category in consecutive years. Welch now has 211 career points, good enough for fourth place in Clemson history. He moved ahead of Bob Paulling into fourth place last Saturday. Paulling had 209 points between 1978-83.

Franklin Gains 105 All-Purpose Yards

Clemson freshman fullback Chris Franklin gained 105 all-purpose running yards in the win over East Tennessee State. The native of Bamberg, SC, who was named one of the top four linebackers in the nation coming out of high school, had 85 yards receiving and 20 yards rushing. He scored two touchdowns, the first Tiger to do that in a game this year.

Clemson went to the run-oriented flexbone against East Tennessee State, but ironically it was a pass play that got the offense going. Franklin took a swing pass from quarterback Richard Moncrief and raced 77 yards for the score. That was the second longest pass reception for a Clemson running back in Tiger history and the longest since 1954. Joe Pagliel caught an 81-yard scoring pass from Joel Wells against South Carolina that year. Ironically, Wells was also a running back, as the play was the result of a halfback option pass.

Franklin is the first Clemson fullback to gain over 100 yards in all-purpose running since the 1991 Duke game in Tokyo, Japan. In a 33-21 win over Duke, Rudy Harris had 126 yards, all rushing. Franklin also had one touchdown rushing and one receiving, the first Tiger to have one in each area since Terrence Flagler had two TD receptions and two rushing at Wake Forest in 1986. It was also just the fourth touchdown pass reception for a Clemson fullback in the last 21 years.

The 1948 Team Honored Today

Clemson's 11-0 team of 1948 that ranked 11th in the final AP poll will be in town this weekend as part of a 45-year anniversary celebration. Frank Howard's club defeated Missouri 24-23 in the Gator Bowl that year, closing Clemson's first perfect season since 1900.

That 1948 team defeated all five Southern Conference opponents to win the league championship, including South Carolina in Columbia, 13-7. A win at 19th-ranked Wake Forest on November 13 was critical, then the defense allowed just six points the last three games of the regular season. The '48 Tigers reached a number-nine ranking in the AP poll on November 15, Clemson's highest ranking in the first 22 years of the poll.

Bobby Gage was the only All-American that season. The senior quarterback was a first-team selection by INS and was also an All-Southern Conference selection. Gage was quite an all-around performer as he passed for 887 yards and 11 touchdowns, rushed for 343 yards, had 118 yards in kickoff returns, 203 yards in punt returns, punted 37 times for a 35-yard average and also had time to grab five interceptions in the secondary. It might be the top all-around performance in Clemson history.

Frank Gillespie was also an All-Southern Conference selection that year. In fact, Gillespie was the 1948 Southern Conference Athlete-of-the-Year, as he was also a starter in baseball and basketball that year. Ray Mathews, who rushed for a team best 646 yards in just Welch is rapidly moving up the Clemson career field goal list.

113 carries and scored 13 touchdowns, and Fred Cone, who concluded his career with over 2100 yards rushing, were also stars of this team.

Haney Clemson's Answer to Rudy

It had been three years since Don Haney was on the football field in game action. The junior from El Paso, TX, transferred to Clemson in January after spending his first year and a half at St. Mary's University in Texas, a school that does not have a football team. Instead, Haney played rugby.

The son of two Clemson graduates decided to transfer to Clemson and walk-on the football team. His father is currently a professor at UTEP. Haney had not gotten into a game this year, so his appearance against East Tennessee State was his first action since his last high school game at Judson High in Converse, TX. He was a high school teammate of current Tiger Darnell Stephens.

Haney played the last defensive series as an outside linebacker. On his second play, he recorded a tackle for loss of three yards. On his third play he caused a fumble.

The Clemson football team saw the movie "Rudy" the Friday night before the East Tennessee State game. Haney then did his best to reconstruct the movie's ending on the field on Saturday. Dan Ruettiger, the Notre Dame football player whose real life story is the subject of the movie, was a walk-on who recorded a sack on the last play of the game in the final game of his home career. It was his only college appearance.

Like Rudy, Haney had not gotten on the field in a long time, had a tackle for loss after two plays and played the outside linebacker position. Unlike Rudy, Haney, a junior, will probably have other opportunities. Haney is a junior academically and a sophomore in football eligibility. Chances are he won't be around for a fifth year. He had a 4.0 in his first semester at Clemson.

McInally Solid in Punting Debut

Chris McInally is another Clemson walk-on who made his first appearance on the football field for the Tigers. The sophomore averaged 40.2 yards on six punts, including a 55-yarder, and allowed just two return yards. Three of his punts were downed inside the 20.

Like Haney, McInally has not seen a lot of action. In fact last Saturday's game was just his second football game ever. And, we are talking junior high, high school, anywhere. McInally was a member of the Clemson soccer team in 1991 and 1992. He played in 14 games over those two seasons and scored one goal (against Presbyterian in 1992). This past summer he decided to walk-on the Tiger football team. In the Wake Forest game he was inserted in the closing moments to attempt an on-side kick. That was the first time he ever stepped on the field in a game. He was an all-state soccer player at Troy High School in Michigan as a senior when he scored 36 goals.

Tigers Stand 5-2

Clemson has a 5-2 record through the first seven games. This is the 11th time in the last 12 years that Clemson has had two blemishes or more on its record at the seven-game mark of the season. The only season since 1981 in which the Tigers have had less than two blemishes (loss or tie) on their record is 1987 when the Tigers jumped out to a 6-1 record.

Tiger Defense Records Shutout

Clemson held East Tennessee State to just 199 yards in total offense and most importantly zero points on the scoreboard. That was the first shutout recorded by the Tigers since a 34-0 win over Appalachian State in 1991. It was the fifth shutout for the Tigers in the Ken Hatfield era.

The total defense figure was the best by the Tigers this year and the best since last year's North Carolina game when the Tar Heels gained just 146 yards in total offense. East Tennessee State gained just seven yards rushing, the best rushing defense since that Appalachian State game when the Tigers allowed just two yards rushing. It was also the 10th best rushing defense in Clemson history. The record is -21 yards rushing by Furman in 1941.

Moncrief Runs the Show

A healthy Richard Moncrief deserves much of the credit for Clemson's victory over East Tennessee State. The graduate student from Alabama hit 5-11 passes for 119 yards and a touchdown. Most importantly, he ran the flexbone offense that gained a season best 410 yards, 278 yards rushing. The Tigers had their first game of the season without a turnover, also quite an accomplishment for a quarterback who had played just 13 snaps at quarterback all year.

In terms of passing efficiency, it was Moncrief's best game as a Tiger. He had a 166 efficiency rating for the game. It was his first start since the N.C. State game last year. He was injured in that game and played just 12 snaps at quarterback the rest of the season. Moncrief played most of last year with a hip injury and he is healthy for the first time since 1991.

Brett Williams Has Best Day

Freshman Brett Williams was named the Clemson Player-of-the-Game by the Tiger Radio Network in the win over East Tennessee State. He had three tackles for loss, including two sacks and recovered a fumble. Williams became the first Tiger this year to record three tackles for loss and two sacks in a game. The second-team player who will move up to first team when Harom Pringle graduates, was a SuperPrep All-American at Dougherty High School in Albany, GA.

Ford Twins Contribute

For the first time in Clemson history a set of twins were on the field at the same time. Throughout the first and second halves of the East Tennessee State game twin brothers Andy and Peter Ford were the cornerbacks for the Tiger defense. Both had played on special teams this year, but last Saturday was the first time both players were on the field at the same time. Peter Ford recorded his first career interception in the first half and the theft set up a Clemson score in the first half. He also had a touchdown-saving tackle in the third period on a long pass play, a tackle that preserved Clemson's shutout. Peter Ford had four tackles in his 54 snaps of action. Andy had a tackle and two pass deflections in his 25 plays of action.

Dawkins Leads Clemson in PBUs

Brian Dawkins is one of the young players in the Clemson secondary who has been a standout performer this year. Dawkins has seven pass deflections in the first seven games and ranks second in the ACC in that category. Saturday he recorded his second interception of the season, broke up a pass, had a pair of tackles, including one behind the line of scrimmage.

Buckner Moving Up the Charts

Clemson senior defensive tackle Brentson Buckner had two tackles for loss and a sack in the win over East Tennessee State. The native of Columbus, GA, now has seven tackles for loss and three sacks this year. He has recorded 39 tackles for loss and 18.5 sacks for his career.

Buckner is now ranked in a tie for sixth place in Clemson history in tackles for loss. He and former teammate Chester McGlockton are tied with those 39 tackles for loss. Buckner is all alone in sixth place on the Clemson all-time sack list. But, Buckner needs just 2.5 sacks to jump all the way to third place on the all-time list. When he does that he will trail only the Perrys, Michael Dean (28 sacks) and William (27 sacks).

Clemson in NCAA Rankings

Clemson ranks favorably in some NCAA statistics this week. The Tigers are still fourth in the nation in punt returns, averaging 13.9 yards per return. Dexter McCleon is fifth individually with a 13.9 average. Andre Humphrey also has a 14-yard average, but does not have enough attempts to qualify for the NCAA stats.

Clemson is also moving up in the national defensive stats. Clemson has moved into the top 20 in rushing defense, now ranking 18th with a 115.0 per game figure. The Tigers are 36th in pass efficiency defense, 27th in scoring defense and 39th in total defense.

Turnover margin, which is a combination of offense and defense, ranks the Tigers 13th in the nation. Clemson has nine turnovers and forced 16 for a +1.0 per game figure.

Jones Top Tackler

Junior inside linebacker Tim Jones continues to lead the Tigers in tackles. The native of Rock Hill, SC, now has 58 tackles in seven games this season. Jones led Clemson in tackles last year with 89 in 10 games, obviously 8.9 per game. He has been at 8.3 tackles per game this year. Jones now has had at least six tackles in nine straight games and 15 of his last 17. He had just six tackles against ETSU, but he played just 32 snaps, as Ken Hatfield was able to play 31 players on defense during the game.

Brent LeJeune

by Annabelle Vaughan

About 30 miles east of the Texas border, not far from the Gulf of Mexico, lies a little town called Jennings, Louisiana, population approximately 20,000. Just north of Jennings is an even smaller town called Elton, population approximately 1,000. And about 15 miles from Elton, in a highly unpopulated area, is the farm where Brent LeJeune spent his early years.

In fact, until Clemson's mammoth offensive tackle came to South Carolina for his recruiting visit at Clemson, he had never been outside of Louisiana, except for an occasional jaunt across the Texas border and a trip to Kansas City when he was too young to remember.

LeJeune's grandfather farmed rice and soybeans, and when he died, LeJeune's father took over the farm, as befits the family's oldest son. When times got tough financially, Mr. LeJeune began working another job, driving 50 miles to the ports every night to load ships. He would then come home and sleep for a couple of hours before getting up to take care of duties on the farm.

In French, a language that is quite familiar in the parts of Louisiana where LeJeune was raised, the name "LeJeune" means "the young," and it was a young Brent LeJeune who began to help his father on the family farm. "I loved helping my Daddy on the farm," he remembers. "I would follow him around and basically be a gopher. One time he wanted to take me to AstroWorld, an amusement park in Houston, but I didn't want to go because I wanted to stay home and work on the farm.

"He taught me to drive his pickup truck when I was four years old. He took me out in a field and taught me there so I wouldn't hit anything. By the time I was about five or six, I could drive it by myself. If we were out in the fields and Daddy needed something back at the house, I could drive and get it for him, or if he had some men who needed to be taken to a different field, I would drive them. I would drive around the countryside in a four-wheel drive pickup truck and I could barely see over the steering wheel."

By the time LeJeune had reached the sixth grade, his father had given up farming and the family moved to Lake Charles, a city of about 70,000 people. The ship channel runs into the city, so there is a big port and many oil refineries. "The school in Jennings only had about 400 people in kindergarten through 12th grade," LeJeune says. "By then I knew I was going to play football, so my Dad wanted me to move to Lake Charles." But LeJeune's new hometown was still by no means an urban area. It was still rural enough that one night while he was in high school, he and his friends were driving down a local road and hit a horse while going 55 miles an hour.

When a foreigner, such as those of us from the Palmetto State, thinks of Louisiana, we usually think of Cajuns, Mardi Gras and crawfish. LeJeune certainly lives up to this reputation of what life is like in his native land. "Lake Charles is the flatlands, and the people there are called 'Prairie Cajuns,'" he says. "But my family is originally from the south central part of the state and I am 100 percent Cajun. My grandmother's grandfather was from France. My grandmaw speaks Cajun French and really doesn't speak English very well. My mom also has a strong accent too, and I had one when I was little. When I go home for a couple of weeks, my girlfriend always says I come back with an accent."

The young LeJeune also celebrated the Mardi Gras in fine style when he was growing up. "Everybody thinks of New Orleans when they think of Mardi Gras," he says, "but that is mainly for the tourists. There's a town called Mamou where it started and it's a lot of fun to go to on Mardi Gras. Everybody dresses up and there are parades, just like in New Orleans, but everything is more home-made. People ride around from house to house all morning and get chickens and stuff and come back and make a huge supper that everyone comes to eat. Every town has its own version of Mardi Gras and it's a lot of fun."

And as far as crawfish go, well, it's LeJeune's favorite food, as well as other Cajun specialties. "My senior year in high school, we had a lot of graduation parties and at every one we had a crawfish boil. I also like them fried. I like to cook cajun food. Just the other night, I made my girlfriend a shrimp etoufée."

After coming from a region so steeped in tradition, it would seem that LeJeune would be hesitant to go far away. But when it came time for the high school USA Today and Street & Smith All-American to choose where he would play college football, he chose to come east. "I wanted to see what the rest of the world was like," he says.

The reticent LeJeune has liked what he has found in the "rest," or at least in this part, of the world. On the gridiron, he was a preseason All-ACC choice in 1993 after being a mainstay on the Tigers' offensive line for the past two seasons. Academically, he is on track to graduate next May or after the 1994 summer session. And as far as his personal life goes, he proposed to his girlfriend, Leslie, just a week before the season started and she graciously accepted.

"Most of the people where I'm from are Catholic, and the Mardi Gras is our way to celebrate one last time before Lent starts. Then everything gets real strict. It was like that when I proposed to my girlfriend. I did it on our last free Friday night before the season started."

Although LeJeune is proud of his heritage and the region from which he hails, he isn't quite sure that he wants to return to Louisiana to start his own family. However, he plans to maintain many of the cultural values that are inherent in the Cajun lifestyle. "Families are very important where I'm from," he says. "They are very tightly knit. Our whole family would always get together every weekend. When I get married and start my own family, I don't really want to go back to that area, because it's hard to make a living. But wherever I go, I'm still going to be 100 percent Cajun and I'm still going to be from Louisiana."

LeJeune, a native Cajun, has been Clemson's highest graded offensive lineman in 1993.

Theo Young

by Chris Metzler

When asking Theo Young, Clemson's wide receivers coach, about himself, his usual response is, "I graduated from high school, then I graduated from college and now I am on Coach Hatfield's staff."

There is much more to Coach Young's life than he describes.

"I don't like to talk about myself much. I don't tell people that I did other things, because I don't want to brag. People ask me why I did not say that I did this or that, but that was Theo then and this is Theo now. I would rather talk about others. It is not that I am hiding anything, I just would rather talk about how well one of my players is doing than talk about my career."

Young graduated from Newport High School, Newport, Arkansas, where he was an All-American tight end and team captain in his senior season. He then went to Arkansas on an athletic scholarship where he caught 21 passes for 341 yards. His senior season he won the Jim Wellons Dedication Award.

Following his days with the Razorbacks, he went on to play two seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers where he was a reserve wide receiver. "It was tough coming from Arkansas where I did not catch many passes, so I really had to prove myself. But the two things that I had going for me were that I could catch the ball, and I could run pretty good. It really helped me. In the pros there is not a first and a second team; if you're on the roster you're going to play. You're one of the top players they picked to represent them, few make it. I just felt fortunate to make the roster. I got to go to places and see things that I would not have been able to see and do without being with the Steelers. It was a good experience and it helped start my coaching career because I got to know people."

Young began his coaching career at his alma mater as the running back coach. Following one season at Arkansas he went to the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga as the tight end coach. He did not stay long because of the opening at Clemson. "Theo was an outstanding player for us at Arkansas and he was a hard worker," said Hatfield. "He was very aggressive and very unselfish. Since then he gained experience under Buddy Nicks at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. Coach Nicks said that Theo was going to be a great coach and that he was a good recruiter," said Hatfield.

"So when we had an opening I felt that he would be great for our program. He knew what the staff was like which made him feel more comfortable. He has done a real good job for us so far at Clemson."

Young agrees that the transition to Clemson was smooth because of his familiarity with Coach Hatfield. "Playing under Coach Hatfield at Arkansas, I saw that he was a winner and that he worked really hard. He is the same way here. He wants us to get the guys prepared by us working hard. I am going to apply those methods he used on me when I was a player at Arkansas. He may be a little grayer up top but he is still the same person. It has been a pleasure to play under him and now coach under him."

Coming to a new school, Young's first task was to get to know the players. "When I came here I did not know any of the wide receivers, so I told them that I would give them all a chance in the spring to earn a starting spot. I told them that they were going to eliminate themselves by their performance. I think that I gave them all an equal chance and that is how I gained their trust. They all got out there and performed and they compared themselves to each other."

What Young quickly realized this past spring was that he had a very deep and talented group of receivers. "With Terry, Marcus, Jason and the others, we have some very smart, talented guys. It is one of the best groups of receivers that I have been with. They earned the respect of the team by making some big catches and great blocks so the main thing I had to do was remind them of the little things, like looking the ball into your hands the whole way."

Young also stressed two things that he feels are very important for all receivers. "First, a receiver must be in the right place at all times. Secondly, I want them to be prepared to make the big plays. As a wide receiver they are one of two or three players on offense that can change a game just like that."

As a coach, Young feels his youth helps him relate to his players. "It has helped me as a coach. The players come by and sit in my office and we will joke around, but they also talk with me, asking a lot of questions. They feel I know where they are coming from. I hope to think that I am a person they can talk with. I also try to stay in shape which is important with the position I coach. Also it shows the players that I am interested in staying in shape and I enjoy working out along with them."

It is not just his youth that helps him relate with the players. "Any coach that opens his door to his players is going to have players who are going to work hard for him. Players want someone who will talk with them and not just be a coach who will not see them until the next practice. They want someone to sit down and listen to their problems. A lot of them appreciate a coach who is concerned with more than their football life. If you show you care you get more from the players. You're helping yourself, the players, and the team."

Clemson wide receiver Terry Smith agrees, "Coach Young has been through what we are going through now and what we will be going through so he is able to relate to us. He is willing to take time to talk with the players, his door is always open."

One reason Young is able to have the open door policy is due to the fact that he does not allow the pressures of the job of coaching to change his personality. "Coaching is a serious business. It is also my livelihood and that's pressure, but I told myself I am going to try to not let it get to me. You must have a shut off switch. Life is too short. If you know me, I am going to be the same no matter what the circumstance."

Although Coach Young chooses not to discuss his past success on the gridiron, he plans to continue talking about present and future successes with the Clemson Tigers.

Young is the youngest coach on the Clemson staff, a fact that helps him in coaching the Tiger receivers.

Dr. Max Lennon

Clemson University President Max Lennon's ambition is to be president of the nation's top technologically-oriented land grant university. And he doesn't plan to leave campus to achieve that goal. Because that's the vision Lennon has for Clemson: not to be "one of the best," but to be better at what it does than any other school.

To achieve the vision, Lennon has brought the business world's concepts of total quality management and strategic planning to the academic arena. He hopes these concepts will help reduce bureaucracy, increase involvement of students, faculty and staff in the management of the university, increase diversity, and create an atmosphere of a community of scholars.

"The vision statement that has emerged from the strategic planning process—to become the nation's leading technologically-oriented land-grant university—sets a challenging course for this institution's development: to become the best in our league," he has said.

It is this commitment to excellence that has enabled Lennon to lead Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president. The Lennon presidency has seen the completion of the most successful campaign in the university's, and the state's, history; unprecedented growth in research, topping $100 million in annual expenditures last year; and an ongoing program of campus revitalization that balances the university's desire for technological excellence, cultural awareness, and historic preservation.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been president for agriculture administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. He also served on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and co-chaired the Governor's Commission on Agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, NC, and earned his bachelor's degree and doctorate from N.C. State University, where he began his teaching career.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of state and national organizations. He is one of 13 university presidents and chancellors appointed to a nationwide committee to study the role of public service at land-grant and other public institutions.

The Outreach Futures Committee, a product of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, is charged with rethinking the concept of Extension-type activities at public colleges and universities.

"The traditional Extension model has been enormously effective at increasing agricultural productivity and rural development in this country, and now we need to modernize traditional programs and to look at harnessing that same type of energy to focus on other community and educational needs, such as health, natural resource management, and K-12 education," Lennon said. "Clemson is recognized as a national leader in developing a new outreach model through programs in local leadership development, community-based education and creative programming for young people and their families."

In addition to the Outreach committee post, Lennon serves on the organization's Commission on Veterinary Medicine and is a member of the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment's Advisory Council. He is also a member of the Council of Presidents, the S.C. Research Authority Board, the Chamber of Commerce Board, the National Dropout Prevention Fund Board, the Farm Foundation Board, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics and the SACS Executive Council. Other Board appointments include First Union, Delta Woodside and Duke Power.

In 1991, he received the Thomas Green Clemson Medallion, the highest public honor given by the university. Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon. This past year, they joined an elite group of people who can call themselves "Clemson Parents" when both children, Daniel Ray and Robin, received degrees from the university.

Dr. Max Lennon has led Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president.

Ken Hatfield

Hatfield played on a national championship team in college, served as an assistant coach for five top-20 teams and has been the head coach for seven top-20 clubs.

During his career, Ken Hatfield has shown his ability to win, regardless of the conference, the competition, or the program. He is one of only three active coaches to lead three different programs to top-20 seasons and is the only active Division I coach to gain 10-win seasons at three different schools. He has also ranked among the nation's elite in terms of overall winning percentage over the last decade, as his .750 winning percentage over the last 10 years ranks sixth among active coaches who have coached at Division I schools in each year of that time frame. His last 10 teams have competed in nine bowl games and he has produced seven top-20 clubs in the last decade.

When Hatfield took over the Clemson program prior to the 1990 season, he was faced with the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence set in the eighties (only Nebraska and Miami had fewer losses in that time frame than Clemson). Hatfield has met the challenge, posting a 24-10-1 mark for the Tigers in his first three seasons, two top-20 finishes and the 1991 ACC Championship. The 1991 team was the first Tiger team since 1982 to have just one loss in regular season play.

The victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl made Hatfield the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900 when John Heisman was 6-0. The 1990 season included six wins over teams with winning records. Only national champion Georgia Tech had more.

Hatfield was just the eighth coach in the last 13 years to take a team to a top-10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program.

But Hatfield's impressive debut at Clemson was no big surprise to those who have followed his career. He has enjoyed success throughout his involvement with the sport of football, as a player and coach.

As a player, he helped Arkansas face every challenge in 1964, when the Razorbacks had an 11-0 season and won the national title. As an assistant coach at Tennessee and Florida, he molded countless players into top-notch athletes who competed for Southeastern Conference titles, played in seven bowl games in a 10-year period, and ranked in the final top 20 five times. As a head coach, he took a dormant Air Force program to a number-13 national ranking and a pair of bowl wins. He continued to meet the challenges at Arkansas, his alma mater, guiding the Razorbacks to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, something that had not been done at Arkansas since Hatfield was a player.

Hatfield has had five 10-win seasons in his career and has accomplished that task at three different schools. He is the only active coach and one of just two in the history of the game (Dan Devine is the other) to have taken three different schools to a 10-win season.

Hatfield has an overall record of 105-59-3 (.638), but he has won 75 percent of his games over the last 10 seasons (91-29-2). At Arkansas, he posted a record of 55-17-1 over six seasons, a .760 winning percentage. That percentage is second best in Southwest Conference history as only Darrell Royal (Texas 1957-76) had a better percentage.

The native of Helena, Arkansas, played in two bowl games with the Razorbacks, coached in seven post-season games as an assistant and the 1992 Citrus Bowl marked the 10th in which he has been the head coach. Seven times he has coached a team to a top-20 final ranking in the AP poll, and he played on two other top 15 teams.

Hatfield-coached clubs have excelled offensively and defensively, but they have been particularly successful in rushing offense and defense. Each of his last 11 teams have finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing offense, including eight top-10 finishes. This includes last year's team, which averaged 257 yards a game and ranked sixth nationally.

Two of his last four Arkansas teams finished in the top three in the country in turnover margin, including his 1988 team that was first in the nation (Clemson was second that same year). Defensively, his clubs have finished in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense six of the last seven years. The Tigers were ranked first in the nation in total defense, second in rushing defense, and second in scoring defense at the end of the 1990 regular season.

Clemson ranked first in the nation in rushing defense and fourth in total defense in the 1991 season.

Hatfield has coached in four major conferences and with independent schools, giving him a diverse background in the finer points of the game. It is one reason he was named the third best teaching coach in college football by Inside Sports magazine in 1990.

Hatfield began his coaching career immediately after graduation. In the fall of 1965, he served as an assistant coach at Helena-West Helena High School in Arkansas. In 1966, he moved to West Point, where he served as freshman coach for two seasons.

After the two-year stint at Army, he served as an assistant coach at Tennessee for three years (1968-70). The Volunteers went to post-season bowls all three seasons (including two major bowls), won a conference title and ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll all three seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1970.

In 1971, Hatfield began a seven-year stint at the University of Florida, spending four seasons as a defensive backfield coach and three as an offensive backfield mentor. Florida played in four bowl games during his career in Gainesville and two more Gator teams finished in the AP top 20, including the 1974 team that played Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

Hatfield became offensive coordinator at the Air Force Academy under current New England Patriots Head Coach Bill Parcells in 1978. A year later, Parcells was wooed to the New York Giants and Hatfield became the Falcons' head coach. The Air Force program had not had a winning season since 1973. But by his fourth season, Hatfield had an eight-game winner, led Air Force to its first-ever victory over Notre Dame, and had taken the Falcons to a post-season bowl for the first time since 1971.

In 1983, Hatfield was named national Coach-of-the-Year by the Football Coaches Association (Bobby Dodd Award) after leading Air Force to a 10-2 season that included wins over Notre Dame, Navy and a bowl victory over Mississippi. It was the Academy's first-ever win over Notre Dame in South Bend.

The next year, Hatfield succeeded Lou Holtz at Arkansas, where he would take his alma mater to 55 wins in six seasons, six bowl appearances and four final top-15 rankings. His 1985 club finished with a 10-2 mark and number-12 national ranking, the Razorbacks' first top-20 finish since 1982. Four times the Razorbacks rallied from fourth quarter deficits to gain victory.

The 1986 campaign was another year of success with highlight victories over a nationally ranked Texas A&M club and the Razorbacks' first win in 20 years at Texas. Arkansas advanced to the Orange Bowl and finished 15th in the final AP poll.

Arkansas won the 1988 and 1989 Southwest Conference Championship. He was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 as he took the Razorbacks to the league title and a 10-0 start. Miami (FL) defeated Arkansas 18-16 in the Orange Bowl to stop the streak. Seven players off the 1988 club (all recruited by Hatfield) were drafted by the NFL, an Arkansas single draft record.

After the 1989 team's 10-2 ledger and second straight SWC championship, Hatfield was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post. Included in the victories was a triumph over a top-15 Houston team and Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and he was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back by trade, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He also finished as the runner-up as a sophomore and is still the only college football player to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons.

An accounting major who earned his diploma in the spring of 1965, Hatfield was an Academic All-American in 1964 and was the recipient of the Swartz Award, presented annually to the top student-athlete at Arkansas. The 1964 All-SWC selection was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1989. He is married to the former Sandy Wright of Kennett, Missouri.

Hatfield has taken three different schools to 10-win seasons, the only active Division I coach who can make that claim.

YOUR UNUSED TICKETS COULD HELP ERIC TACKLE THE BOOKS.

Eric attends a Homework Center – a place that helps him when Mom and Dad can't. And when he works especially hard, he can win wonderful prizes – like tickets to a Clemson home game that he might otherwise never get to see.

Hundreds of Homework Centers across the nation focus on keeping struggling students from becoming dropouts. In actuality, they're doing a lot more than that. Many hardworking students are bringing their grades up from F's to A's, and in one South Carolina elementary school expulsions declined from 38 to 4 after the centers opened.

Duke Power is proud to help support such an important and effective program. We invite you to help too. Simply donate football or basketball season tickets you're unable to use or purchase extra tickets to contribute to the Homework Centers for use as prizes. Send them at least two weeks before game day to: John Geer, Duke Power Company, P.O. Box 1745, Clemson, SC 29633.

If you do, you'll be helping students like Eric tackle the books today so that tomorrow they can tackle the world.

Clemson Sports Program

In 1992-93 Clemson had seven of its athletic teams finish in the Top 20, while three Clemson athletes won four National Championships. Clemson had 24 first, second or third-team All-Americans in 1992-93, just three away from the most in Clemson history.

Clemson teams laid claims to three ACC Championships in 1992-93 with the men's track program claiming two of those titles and the baseball team taking the third. Ten Clemson teams advanced to postseason play during the 1992-93 academic year and NCAA postseason team bids were received by four teams.

The spring sports enjoyed the most success as three of the four men's spring sports teams finished in the top 20. Golf finished fourth, men's outdoor track finished 10th, and baseball finished 16th. The women's tennis squad posted a number-12 national ranking.

The highest national finish was posted by the men's indoor track squad as the Tigers finished second for the second straight year. Three of Clemson's four national championship performances came from the men's track program and head coach Bob Pollock was named the ACC Coach-of-the-Year for indoor and outdoor track.

The Tiger golf team finished fourth nationally and all five Clemson golfers who competed at NCAA's were named honorable mention All-American or better. Baseball claimed Clemson's third ACC Championship of the 1992-93 year and advanced to the NCAA Mideast Regional. The wrestling team had its highest finish ever with a number-13 final ranking, while Sam Henson captured the National Championship at the 118-pound weight class. The men's soccer squad finished the season with a number-19 national ranking.

The women's basketball team made its sixth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Women's tennis coach Andy Johnston was named the ACC Women's Tennis Coach-of-the-Year after leading his squad to its highest national finish since 1986. Women's outdoor track boasted six All-America performances.

Clemson teams were also a rousing success in the classroom in 1992-93, with a record 122 student-athletes making a 3.0 or better. Hurdler Anthony Knight was Clemson's top all-around student-athlete in 1992-93, winning the ACC's Jim Weaver Award and received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. Soccer goalie Jaro Zawislanski, a second-team All-South selection in soccer, was named a second-team ISAA All-America Academic selection.

The ACC

✓ If success is the best measure in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC has proven itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The nine ACC teams are a combined 68-57-5 (.542) in bowl games, a winning percentage second only to the Pac-10's .545 success rate.

Winningest Conferences, Bowl Games

League	Record	Pct
Pacific-10	75-62-6	.545
Atlantic Coast	68-57-5	.542
Southeastern	123-122-13	.502
Western Athletic	32-32-3	.500
Big 10	65-67-3	.493
Big Eight	57-62-1	.479
Big East	39-44-1	.470
Southwest	58-68-6	.462

Winningest Schools, Bowl Games

Team	Record	Pct
Georgia Tech	17-8	.680
Notre Dame	12-6	.667
Oklahoma	19-10-1	.650
Southern Cal	22-13	.629
Penn State	17-10-2	.621
Florida State	12-7-2	.619
Clemson	11-7	.611

✓ The ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its schools play in at least one bowl game in the last four years. The ACC has had 18 total bowl invitations over the last four years.

✓ Georgia Tech, with a 17-8 (.680) postseason mark, is number-one among Division I-A teams in bowl winning percentage. The Yellow Jackets lead a list of three ACC teams that rank in the top seven all-time bowl teams. Florida State is sixth with a 12-7-2 (.619) record and Clemson is seventh at 11-7 (.611).

✓ Two ACC Schools, Clemson and Florida State, rank among the top 11 teams in the nation as far as winning percentage over the last 10 years. The same two schools are also ranked in the top 11 in the nation in terms of years ranked in the final AP Top 20 over the last 13 years.

✓ The nine ACC schools who take the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 288 first- or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 45 first-team academic All-Americans. ACC schools have had 1,233 players selected in the annual professional draft, including 75 first-round selections.

✓ Seven times in the past 13 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to a CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team.

✓ The ACC had 29 players selected in the 1992 NFL draft, including four first-round selections. The first-round picks were Marvin Jones of Florida State by the New York Jets, Dave Brown of Duke by the New York Giants, Wayne Simmons of Clemson by the Green Bay Packers and Thomas Smith of North Carolina by the Buffalo Bills. The 29 selections ranked as the fourth highest total in ACC history.

✓ Florida State led all ACC schools with six players drafted, while Clemson was second with 5.

✓ Four ACC teams are guaranteed of appearing in postseason bowls this year. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1993 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the second year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC begins a two-year deal to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, also a number-four team, in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

✓ The 1992 season marked the fourth straight year that the ACC had at least four teams in bowl games and the 21st straight year that at least two teams have appeared in postseason play.

✓ The 1992 season was the fifth time in six years that at least one ACC team was ranked in the Top 10 of the wire services. At least two ACC teams have been listed in the final AP poll every year since 1985.

✓ The ACC was a balanced league in 1992, as for the first time in the 40-year history of the league, six teams had at least four league wins. Seven of the nine ACC teams were ranked in either the AP or USA Today polls during the course of the season and seven of the nine teams had at least one win over a top 25 team. Eight of the nine ACC schools were represented on the first-team all-conference team.

✓ The ACC boasted an all-time high 11 players who were named first- or second-team All-American in 1992. Clemson is second in the ACC as far as all-time All-America selections with 45.

✓ The ACC was 23-8-1 (.735) against outside competition in 1992, the second best mark in league history. The record is .770 in 1990. In the decade of the 1990s the ACC is 85-31-3 for a .727 non-conference record. The ACC is 13-13 against AP Top 25 non-conference teams in the decade of the 1990s.

✓ For the second year in a row the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Clemson led the way with a 76,789 figure, the 17th straight year Clemson has led the league in attendance.

✓ The ACC was one of the top scoring and total offense leagues in the nation in 1992. Six of the nine schools ranked in the top 50 in total offense and seven ranked in the top 50 in scoring offense.

✓ Defensively, the ACC had six of the top 45 teams in the nation in scoring defense. Six of the nine schools had at least 30 sacks in 1992.

Clemson and Florida State both rank among the most successful football programs in the nation over the last 10 years.

IPTAY

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 60th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletics costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

Thanks in part to IPTAY's contributions, the 1992-93 academic year proved to be another banner one for Clemson athletics. Seven of the 18 athletic teams finished the year in the top 20 of their respective sports. Twenty-four Clemson student-athletes were named All-Americans. There were three ACC Championship teams during the year from Clemson (men's indoor track, men's outdoor track and baseball) with 56 Tiger athletes earning All-ACC honors. Three Tigers also won four individual national championships during the year, as Michael Green won the 55 and 100 meters indoors for the men's track program, and Sam Henson won the 118-pound wrestling championship. That total marked the most ever in a single sports year at Clemson.

Tiger athletes also excelled in the classroom during the 1992-93 academic year, with 122 student-athletes earning a 3.0 or better for the spring semester. Clemson's Anthony Knight, a hurdler for the track squad, was named a recipient of a $5,000 NCAA Post-Graduate scholarship, one of the highest academic honors given by the NCAA. He also received the ACC's Jim Weaver Award earlier in the year, another postgraduate scholarship that is one of the conference's highest academic accolades.

The success of the Clemson athletic program comes during a time when the integrity and accountability of the academic progress of student-athletes are receiving national attention. IPTAY has been a large part of that success by being committed to the student-athlete.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to insure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson," a long-range fundraising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small-group instruction. Computer facilities, an office/reception area for the advising staff and an auditorium, also are contained in Vickery Hall.

The generous support of 16,274 loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the newly renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the new outdoor track, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross-country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for nonathletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

ALL-PRO CENTER

When you're calling the plays for an important conference, tradeshow, banquet or meeting, you need a center who understands your signals and is ready to respond. That's why meeting planners all across the country make their calls to Palmetto Expo Center. With more than 400,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space, 8,000 square feet of pre-function and registration area, a 3,500-square-foot outdoor courtyard, and 2,500 well-lit parking spaces on site, Palmetto Expo Center is set to tackle events of practically any size and scope. It's a snap to stage and service virtually every aspect of your event because our lineup includes a fully equipped catering kitchen, banquet seating and service for up to 2,500 people, sophisticated light and sound systems, and a staff that's trained to make the handoff smoothly with no fumbles or penalties.

Textile Hall Corporation is the proud donor of the Textile Bowl Trophy, presented each year to the winner of the Clemson-North Carolina State game in honor of the textile graduates of these two fine universities.

Academic All-Americans

Charlie Bussey, Back, 1956: Clemson quarterback 1954-56...captain of the 1956 team that won the ACC title and played Colorado in the 1957 Orange Bowl... Academic All-ACC in 1955 and 1956...third-team Academic All-America choice in 1956...led the Tigers in passing, punting and interceptions in 1956, the last Tiger to pull off that all-around triple threat performance...entered Air Force where he served as an instructor-pilot for over eight years...lives in Greenville, SC, where he oversees manufacturing plants.

Harvey White, Back, 1957: Second-team Academic All-American as a sophomore... Academic All-ACC in 1957 and 1958...led the team in total offense during his sophomore and junior years...paced the club in passing for three straight seasons... All-ACC as a sophomore, he quarterbacked Clemson for three straight years and to three straight bowl games...co-captain for the 1959 team...had a 154 passing efficiency in 1957, second highest single season figure in Clemson history...18th in the nation in total offense in 1957 with 1038 yards...still ranks fifth in Clemson history in passing efficiency... first Clemson quarterback to complete over 50 percent of his passes for a career...still in top five in Clemson history in touchdown passes.

Lou Cordileone, Tackle, 1959: Named to first-team All-American, Academic All-American and Academic All-ACC in 1959...only Clemson player to be chosen first-team Academic and on-field All-American in the same year...started on two ACC Championship teams that were nationally ranked 11th and 12th in 1958 and 1959, respectively...played in two 1959 bowl games, the Sugar Bowl and the Bluebonnet Bowl...right fielder in the College World Series for Clemson baseball team in 1959... played with the New York Giants (football) in 1960, he was a first-round draft choice.

Don Kelley, End, 1971: Three-time Academic All-ACC selection...first-team Academic All-American in 1971...holds single game return yardage record for Clemson and the ACC with 223 yards against Maryland in 1970...had a single game record 167 yards on punt returns in that game...his 389 punt return yards in 1970 ranks as the second best for a single season...sixth in the nation in punt returns in 1970...played defensive back for two years, then switched to flanker for his senior year...his mother was 1970 IPTAY Mother-of-the-Year...Don is now a dentist in Greenville, SC.

Ben Anderson, Defensive Back, 1971: Second-team Academic All American... President of Tiger Brotherhood while at Clemson...earned 1972-73 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship award...won the Jim Weaver Award as the outstanding student-athlete in the ACC for the 1972-73 academic year...recipient of the Frank Howard Award for bringing honor to Clemson University in 1973...three-time academic All-ACC on the gridiron, he made the team in 1970, 1971 and 1972...attended South Carolina Law School...lives in Clemson and is the General Counsel for Clemson University.

Steve Fuller, Quarterback, 1977-78: First-team Academic All-American as a senior, second-team in his junior year...made Dean's list six consecutive semesters at Clemson...awarded NCAA Postgraduate

Scholarship and Jim Weaver Postgraduate Scholarship from the ACC...honored in 1978 as one of 11 scholar-athletes by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame...NCAA Top Five Award winner, given annually to the top five student athletes in the nation, regardless of sport...graduated with a 3.93 in Pre-Law (History)...just the second Clemson athlete in history to have his number (four) retired...played in East-West Shrine Bowl and Senior Bowl in 1979...played in the NFL for eight years, including a stint with the Super Bowl Champion Chicago Bears...works in real estate in Hilton Head Island, SC.

Mike Eppley, Quarterback, 1983: 1990 Clemson Hall of Fame inductee...honorable mention All-American in 1984...Academic All-ACC in football and basketball three times each during his celebrated career...participated in 1984 Blue-Gray game...threw for 28 career touchdown passes, breaking Bobby Gage's record...recipient of the Frank Howard Award in 1983-84 academic year and the Clemson IPTAY Athlete-of-the-Year the same season... third in the nation in passing efficiency in 1983, the highest finish ever by a Clemson quarterback...only Clemson QB to rank in the Top 25 in passing efficiency twice...fourth-team Academic All-American in 1984, he was first-team All-ACC by AP for his on-field performance...doubled as basketball player for four years...earned 268 assists, seventh best all-time finish in Clemson history on the hardcourt, when he graduated...also earned his master's degree from Clemson...heating and air conditioning vice president in Charlotte, NC.

Bruce Bratton, Offensive Tackle, 1991: First-team College Football Association Academic All-American for 1991 and a second-team All-ACC choice by AP/ACSWA at offensive tackle... named to the Academic ic All-ACC football team for three straight years, he was just the sixth player in Clemson history to do so...received his degree in industrial engineering in May of 1991, he was a graduate student during his last year of competition...winner of the Bob James Postgraduate scholarship, the ACC's top academic honor...a senior leader of the Tiger offensive line that led the team to the ACC regular season title in total offense and rushing offense in 1991...in on 1,899 snaps in his Clemson career...a prime reason Clemson ranked in the top 20 in the nation in rushing each of the last three seasons...graded 75 or better in six of the last seven games of 1990...a three-year starter for the Tigers.

THE CFA AND HITACHI SUPPORT TEACHING IN AMERICA

Jamie Fidler Honored as "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" Scholarship Recipient Today

Last fall, Hitachi, Ltd. and the College Football Association launched the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" scholarship program, with the hope that by sharing their mutual goals of improving education, they could help today's students become tomorrow's teachers. Now in its second year, the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" program offers a senior or graduate student football player, student coach, student manager or student trainer from each of the 67 CFA member institutions a $5,000 scholarship to continue his or her studies in pursuit of a teaching career.

Today, it is Hitachi's and the CFA's privilege to honor Jamie Fidler, the inaugural "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" scholarship recipient from Clemson University.

Fidler, a native of Sumter, SC, was an offensive student-manager for the Tigers. Besides taking a full academic load at Clemson and working as a student-manager, Fidler attended the Officer Candidate School at the Palmetto Military Academy and was recently commissioned as a second lieutenant in the South Carolina Army National Guard.

"Choosing a career in education will give me the day to day challenge of making a difference, and the fulfillment of knowing I made that difference," says Fidler.

The total of $335,000 being donated makes the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" program the largest corporate-funded scholarship program associated with college football. But most importantly, by granting these scholarships to individuals who actually aspire to a career in teaching, the program hopes to upgrade both the quality and number of people entering the teaching profession.

The enthusiasm of this year's scholarship recipients is echoed by the support of the national spokesperson for the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" program, Gale Sayers, who followed up an illustrious collegiate and professional football career with an advanced degree in education and a role in college administration. Now a successful businessman, Sayers has been touring the country, speaking out on the importance of education. "I have always said that as you prepare to play, you should also prepare to quit," says Sayers.

"Whether you are able to make it into professional athletics or not, the day will come when you will no longer be able to rely on your athletic ability for a living. At that point, the only thing you can fall back on is your education. And the backbone of all education is found in the inspiration and desire to learn that only a teacher can engender."

Indeed, the need for quality teachers at all grade levels in America has never been greater. According to the U.S. Department of Education, from now until the year 2001, there will be an 18.4 percent increase in the demand for new public school teachers. This translates into a potential shortage of some 310,000 teachers, projects the American Federation of Teachers. Moreover, this shortage is expected to come at a time when the number of high school graduates alone is expected to increase by approximately 28.6 percent. Statistics such as these clearly underscore the timeliness of the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" program.

"We are pleased to have been able to support education in America with this scholarship program, and are proud to be continuing our support for a second year," said Koichi Ueno, president, Hitachi America, Ltd. "The 'Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow' program extends our ongoing support of American education, from direct grants and student scholarships to international teacher exchange programs and employee volunteerism, by encouraging pride in education and the teaching profession."

In truth, the "Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow" uniquely melds the strengths and talents of numerous "players" - business, 67 institutions of higher learning, hundreds of motivated students - into a powerful "team" for American education. "With America's schools facing increased demands at a time of decreased funding, the CFA believes that, by combining the visibility of college football and the corporate resources of Hitachi, we can make a positive contribution to education," says Dr. Richard Eakin, chancellor of East Carolina University and chairman of the CFA Board of Directors.

Women's Track

By Annabelle Vaughan

For the 1993-94 season, Wayne Coffman's Lady Tiger track and field program combines the best of both worlds: youth and experience. It is rare that these two elements are found simultaneously, but the 1993-94 Clemson squad definitely boasts this unique blend. This season's roster consists of five seniors, four juniors, nine sophomores, and eight freshmen.

"Although only a small portion of our team is upperclassmen, they will provide the leadership that we need," says head coach Wayne Coffman, who is entering his 13th year at the helm of the Clemson program. "We have a big group of sophomores, who were very successful as freshmen last year with many of them scoring at the ACC Championships. Although they are still young, they now have experience. I think we will see some great things from our sophomore class."

DISTANCE—Two returning All-Americans will lead the way in the distance events: Mareike Rensing (Sr., Pinneberg, Germany) and Karen Hartmann (Jr., Kiel, Germany). Rensing was a 1993 outdoor All-American and ACC Champion in the 3000 meters and was a 1991 cross country All-American. Hartmann, a two-time All-American in the 800 and 1500 meters, was the MVP of the '93 ACC indoor meet, winning conference titles in the 800 meters and the mile run. An injury to her Achilles tendon forced the junior to red-shirt the '93 outdoor season and she has spent the off-season rehabilitating.

Joining Hartmann and Rensing will be a trio of talented sophomores who have gained valuable experience with the Tiger cross country squad as well: Jessica Milosch (So., Saratoga, NY), Meredith Ford (So., Akron, NY) and Christine Engel (So., Flinders, NJ), who scored in two events at the 1993 ACC indoor meet. Hartmann is the most versatile performer on the distance squad, and can run the 800m, 1500m, and 3000m. Rensing and Engel will handle the 1500 meters also, while Rensing will be Coffman's top performer in the 3000m-5000m distances and Ford will handle the 10,000 meters. Freshmen Tina Jensen (Aarhus, Denmark) and Karen Friedrichsen (Bangum, Germany) will add depth in the 3000-5000 meter areas, while sophomore Aidra Vereen (Charleston, SC) can bolster Hartmann at the 800 meter distance.

Coffman continues, "I think we have at least one heavy hitter in all of the distance events. We needed to solidify the 5000-10,000 meter areas and we have done that with the addition of the two talented freshmen, Jensen and Friedrichsen, and I think Meredith Ford is going to be a much improved runner this season. Rensing and Hartmann are solid veterans in the distance events. When Karen Hartmann is on, I don't think there is anyone in the conference who can run with her."

SPRINTS—Coffman has some big shoes to fill in the sprints with the loss of four-time ACC meet MVP and 15-time ACC Champion Kim Graham. She holds the Clemson records in all but one sprint event and with all of the sprint relays. Despite the loss of his marquis athlete, Coffman believes that he has the talent to more than adequately compete in the sprint events.

"The sprints have gone from being one of our strongest areas to one of our weaker ones, so we will be leaning on people to perform to the peak of their ability this year," he says.

Treshell Mayo (So., Raleigh, NC) was one of the Tigers' top newcomers in 1993, earning all-conference honors in the 400 meters outdoors and moving onto the Clemson all-time performers list in the 55 and 200 meters indoors and the 200 and 400 meters outdoors. Veterans Pam Ketter (Sr., Darlington, SC), who battled a hamstring injury last season, and Tonya McKelvey (Sr., Myrtle Beach, SC) were ACC Champions with the 4x100 meter relay squad in 1993 and will be the team leaders in the 100 meters. McKelvey has experience at the big meets, as she was an NCAA indoor and outdoor qualifier in 1993 in the long jump.

Another veteran, Tonya Avery (Jr., Jacksonville, NC) will join Mayo in the 400 meters, where she ranks on both the indoor and outdoor all-time lists, while Aidra Vereen and Erika Selby (So., Virginia Beach, VA) can both run the 400 meters if needed.

"We don't have a superstar yet, but we are covered in every event with quality athletes," says Coffman. "Plus I think Treshell Mayo can be a superstar. If she works hard, she can pick up the torch from Kim Graham. She's just not proven yet. She ran faster as a freshman than Kim Graham did in the 200 and 400 meters and Graham holds the school records in both of those events. Ketter and McKelvey are both very good 100 meter runners. Tonya Avery has been very consistent and she will provide us with great leadership."

HURDLES—The hurdles will be one of the strong points of the 1993-94 version of the Clemson women's team as three of the hurdlers who rank on the all-time performer's list will return.

Monyetta Haynesworth (Jr., Woodbridge, VA) is the veteran of the group, and ranks second on the all-time list in the 55 meter hurdles (7.82) and third in the 100 meter hurdles (14.03). She won all-conference honors in the indoor hurdles in 1993. Tiffany Myers (So., Elgin, SC) had a strong freshman campaign, moving onto the all-time list in the 100 meter hurdles with a 14.17 clocking and scoring at the ACC indoor meet in the 55 meter event.

Erika Selby surprised the ACC field by winning the conference championship in the 400 meter hurdles last season and ranks third on the all-time list in that category.

JUMPS—To say that the Tigers are stacked at the long jump is an understatement, as Coffman returns three NCAA qualifiers and two All-Americans in that event: Monyetta Haynesworth, Tonya McKelvey and Courtney Singleton (Sr., Baltimore, MD).

Haynesworth finished the 1993 season ranked fifth on the USA list in the long jump, a list that is comprised of collegiate and professional jumpers. She holds the school record in the event outdoors with a 21'5-1/2" mark and won All-ACC honors outdoors in 1993. McKelvey set the indoor record in the long jump last year with a 29'10-1/4" mark and was an all-conference performer. Both jumpers earned All-America honors in the indoor event last year, while McKelvey was also an outdoor honor winner. Singleton was also an NCAA qualifier in the indoor long jump last season and ranks on the Tiger all-time performer's list in the indoor and outdoor triple jumps as well.

Joining the already impressive group of jumpers will be freshmen Trevi Frazier (Orangeburg, SC) and Sharia Clinkscales (Anderson, SC). Frazier jumped 19'7" as a prepster and is a 39+ triple jumper. Clinkscales will be the Tigers' top high jumper after posting a 5'10" mark in high school.

"The jumps are very strong," Coffman continues. "We have proven talent in the long jump with Haynesworth, McKelvey and Singleton and Pam Ketter is also a very good long jumper. The new jumpers will give us a boost in the triple jump and high jump, areas where we have not been as strong in the past couple of years."

THROWS—Senior Denise Massey (Chester, SC) has been a solid performer in the throws for the past two years, scoring in the shot put and discus at last year's ACC Championships. Last year, Massey was basically a solo act for Coffman in the throws, but she will have some company in 1994. Freshman Niki Sims (Plainfield, NJ) was a high school All-American in the shot put and her personal best of 48'4" would have won the ACC Championship last year.

Jodie Phillips (Jr., Towaco, NJ) will be the Tigers' solo performer in the javelin, where she finished third in the conference last season.

"If I had to pick one girl who everybody on the team looks up to, it would be Denise Massey," says Coffman. "Niki Sims has big-time ability and if she works hard, will be great. I think we will have two of the top throwers in the conference. Jodie Phillips will have to carry the javelin all by herself, but I am confident in her ability. She is an excellent thrower. In the heptathlon, Aimee Stout (So., Westfield, NJ) works extremely hard and that hard work will translate in much improvement this year."

Tonya McKelvey and Mareike Rensing are returning All-Americans.

The art of banking in the state of South Carolina

Carolina First has elevated the business of banking to an art. Exhibiting exceptional skill in providing the outstanding services of a larger bank, with the personalized attention only a hometown bank can offer. This philosophy, our unique way of conducting business, has been instrumental in our statewide growth. But we're not just growing for the sake of growth. We understand the mania of big bank mergers and its detrimental effect on our state. So, we're making available our proven philosophy to more people and businesses statewide. And we've taken prudent steps to assure that this successful strategy remains consistent branch to branch, hometown to hometown, across the Palmetto state. We're committed to serving the state, and serving it well. We're an integral part of South Carolina, bringing state-of-the-art banking to the entire state and helping make South Carolina a better place to live and do business for us all.

Butler and Clark

by Tim Bourret

Fifteen years ago the pass-receiving combination of Jerry Butler and Dwight Clark teamed with quarterback Steve Fuller (see Wake Forest program) to defeat Maryland 28-24. The Clemson victory clinched the ACC title for the Tigers in one of the most thrilling games in Clemson history.

Butler, who was an All-American in that 1978 season, had an 87-yard scoring reception in that game, while Clark, who was never even All-ACC, had a 62-yard TD reception. The two combined for 208 receiving yards, the highest total as a duo in their Clemson careers.

"I remember that was one exciting game," said Butler, who led Clemson in receiving that year. "We were in great shape and then Steve Atkins had a 98-yard run to put Maryland back in the game. It was a struggle, but we won and clinched the Gator Bowl bid."

Butler recalled the reception at the airport. "We cheered the entire way home on the plane, and when we arrived, there were people (an estimated 7,000) everywhere. We all had our victory cigars also."

"Years later I was on a charter with the Bills, and we had the same flight attendants that we had on that trip home from Maryland. They still remembered how our team did not stop cheering the entire flight back to Greenville."

For the last 15 years Butler and Clark have continued to experience parallel lives. Both went on to play in the Pro Bowl, Butler in 1980, Clark in 1982 and 1983. Both retired after the 1987 season, due for the most part to injury, after ranking in the top five in club history in pass receptions. In fact, Clark was ranked 20th in NFL history with 506 catches at the time of his retirement. Both players even started a restaurant during the end of their playing days.

Now, they are both working in the front office for the franchises they served with distinction as players. Clark is the coordinator of football operations and player personnel of the San Francisco 49ers, while Butler is the director of player and alumni relations for the Buffalo Bills.

Butler is breaking new ground in the NFL from an administration standpoint. When you hear him discuss his responsibilities you wonder why every team in the NFL doesn't create this position as a branch of their hierarchy.

"I help our new players with their transition when they join our team," said Butler, who began the position in July. "I help them find a place to live, show them around the community and the opportunities that exist in the Buffalo area. I help them with family concerns, dealing with life off the football field." Ironically, Butler had just finished a meeting with former Tiger Jerome Henderson when the author of this article contacted Butler.

"I also work with the Buffalo Bills alumni," continued Butler, who played his entire career with the Bills after being selected in the first round, the fifth overall NFL pick, in 1979. "Our owner, Mr. (Ralph) Wilson, has a family approach to this organization and wants to see the Bills players have a successful career after they finish playing in Buffalo. He has been proud of the rewarding careers many of his former players have had."

"My job with the alumni is educational in nature also. We offer a continuing education program in finances and other areas that help our former players adjust to life after football. I also help them with job opportunities and with personal appearances. Late in the week, our current players can't always make appearances, so it is an opportunity for our former players in the area to get involved."

"The Buffalo Bills have taken a leading role in this area and I am happy to be a part of it."

Butler, who earned his Clemson degree in business administration, was the AFC Rookie-of-the-Year in 1979 and set an NFL rookie record with 255 receiving yards against the Jets. He would have set countless Buffalo receiving records had it not been for repeated knee injuries. His experience as a player, combined with his business acumen and common sense, certainly qualify him for his current occupation.

"My biggest goal for this job is to see players be successful while they are with the Bills and for years to come. I want to help the current players and alumni deal with personal finances, family problems that come up with a move to a different city and relating to the media. We also want them to become involved in the community. I would love to see all of them settle in Western upstate New York."

There is one basic guideline that Butler uses in the execution of his job. "The biggest thing I try to do is have the players carry over the discipline they have learned in football to other areas of their life. That philosophy can help me in all areas. Everyone is going to stumble in different areas of their life, I am here to keep them from falling down."

Clark works with the 49er players in a more finite area, but he has a broader scope of responsibilities when it comes to the overall organizational scheme.

"I have been involved in many different areas of the organization and I am thankful to Mr. (Eddie) DeBartolo for the opportunity," said Clark, who has worked for the 49ers since his retirement. "Since I retired from the game, I have been involved with the ticket office, public relations, scouting and many other areas. I am getting a well-rounded education."

Probably the most interesting area has been player contract negotiations. He began by negotiating with the players drafted in the eighth to 12th rounds, a job that put Clark on the other side of the fence. In 1979 he was a 10th round pick of the 49ers.

"When I first started doing it, people came to me and said 'I want you to do my contract,' said Clark. "I was almost the other way in the beginning (tougher) because I had to prove myself with Mr. DeBartolo."

Once merely a consultant on personnel and contract decisions, this Clemson Hall of Fame member now has a direct say in how the 49ers draft, sign and trade players. In general, he is the assistant general manager.

There is one other area that Butler and Clark have in common and it should serve as an inspiration to current and future Tigers. Both overcame odds to become successful on the field, which in turn led to success off the field.

Butler came to Clemson on a track scholarship and had to "walk-on" the football team in 1975. He didn't even make the varsity squad in 1975. Clark, a member of the same class, started his career as a defensive back and really did not become a starter at wide receiver until his senior season. He caught only 33 passes his entire Clemson career. The 49ers discovered Clark when they came to see Steve Fuller work out and they needed someone to catch Fuller's passes.

"Dwight and I are both examples that you should hang in there. The only reason I got a chance was because Stan Rome decided to play exclusively with the basketball team. When Joey Walters graduated, Dwight got his chance. We are both proof that you should work hard and be patient."

Clark and Butler, who were both involved in some famous receptions in their playing days, are now both employed in the front offices of their former NFL teams.

- 1 can refried beans
- 1/2 packet of taco seasoning
- 1 ripe avocado
- 3 tablespoons Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa
- 1/2 cup sliced black olives
- 1 tomatoe, diced
- Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing
- Shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Spread one can refried beans over a 13 x 9 pan. Add 1/2 packet pf taco seasoning and stir into beans. Respread. In a small bowl mash 1 ripe avocado until smooth. Add Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa and spread over bean mixture. Next layer with sliced black olives and diced fresh tomatoes. Top with Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing to cover well. Add shredded Monterey Jack cheese. Serve chilled or bake on low temperature until cheese is melted. Makes a great tailgating dip!

Martin Color-Fi—An Investment in the Environment

Martin Color-Fi creates special fibers to spin a story of success. We custom manufacture fibers from both virgin and recycled materials, and then melt-dye them to match our customer's color choices. And we do it all within a maximum turnaround time of 30 days. What's more, our process helps America save natural resources and conserve space in rapidly diminishing landfills.

Martin Color-Fiber succeeds by making special fibers for today in a way that's responsive to customer needs and responsible to the environment. And any way you look at that, it's an investment in tomorrow.

Emergency Services

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:

Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

Memorial Stadium

Clemson has won over 72 percent of its games in Death Valley.

In the first 51 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 174-64-7, including a 16-2-1 ledger over the last three seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.5 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

There are many stories about the stadium, including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 west end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features that make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson has the most exciting stadium entrance in the nation.

Carolyn Lindsay

Mother-of-the-Year

by Chris Metzler and Beth McInnis

All of us who know a Clemson mother know what a special person she is. Of all the jobs in the world, hers is the one that takes the most time, the most patience, and the most understanding. From tending to household chores to taking care of her children, a mother's typical day rarely has time for much else. But there are those mothers that find time to take care of the family while also being involved in their church and community. They are these mothers, with a deep-seeded love for Clemson University, that the Tiger Brotherhood chooses from to honor as their Mother-of-the-Year each year on Parent's Day.

Today, Carolyn M. Lindsay is being recognized for her love and devotion to her family, to the community, and to Clemson University as this year's Mother-of-the-Year.

Carolyn was born in Clemson and has spent most of her life in this town. She attended Calhoun Clemson High School and Furman University. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Pickens S. McCollum, were lifelong residents of Clemson. Mr. McCollum was the owner of the L.C. Martin's Drug Store (which also served as the college's bookstore) in Downtown Clemson and was considered a father-figure to many Clemson students until his death in 1951.

In 1943 she married Marvin D. "Slack" Lindsay. Marvin was also born in Clemson and grew up in a house less than 100 yards from what is now Memorial Stadium on a site where Earle Hall stands today. In 1947 he graduated from Clemson. His father, James G. Lindsay was director of the Clemson mess hall for 40 years.

The Lindsays have three children, all of whom graduated from Clemson University.

Ann Lindsay Landgraff and Susan Lindsay Bishop graduated with honors as members of the class of '68. Landgraff currently lives in Greenville where she teaches in the public school system. Susan Bishop is a resident of Atlanta and is married to Frank Bishop, a member of the class of '65.

Her son, Pickens ("Pick") also graduated from Clemson with honors in 1974. While he was at Clemson, Pickens was a member of Blue Key and Tiger Brotherhood. He was also the commander of Sigma Nu fraternity and was the director of the Clemson National Alumni Board. He currently lives in Atlanta, GA and is married to the former Libby Hagood. She is a graduate of the University of South Carolina, but thankfully, the Lindsay family has been able to convert her blood to a more orange hue.

Ann Landgraff now lives in Greenville where she is a teacher, while Susan Bishop lives in Atlanta, GA. Susan's husband, a member of the Class of '65 is a member of the board of Clemson Foundation.

During her own kids' Clemson years, from 1963 until 1974, an army of young men and women from Columbia College, Converse, South Carolina and other schools marched through Mrs. Lindsay's home as they visited or dated Clemson students. Numerous fraternity displays were built in her garage and mountains of clothes were washed and dried in her laundry room. Also known as a great cook, she has entertained many a Clemson student at her own table over the years.

If those ties aren't enough, Myrtle B. Lindsay, Carolyn's mother-in-law, was named Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year in the early '50's.

Carolyn also has six grandchildren. Each of her children has two children for a grand total of two girls and four boys.

Throughout her life Carolyn has always found time to help others by opening her home and her heart. Among these have been not only her own contemporaries, but also friends of her children and other students and their families. Her warm smile and friendly manner has been a comfort and inspiration to not only her Clemson-oriented family but to countless others.

"It is an honor to be chosen Mother-of-the-Year by such a great group of students. It is also quite an honor to join the previous group of selectees," said Mrs. Lindsay.

The Mother-of-the-Year award is a traditional part of Parents' Day. Each year a Mother-of-the-Year is chosen by Tiger Brotherhood and is recognized before the game. The senior football players' parents are also recognized before the game, but it is the Mother-of-the-Year that has the honor of dotting the "i" as the Tiger band spells out "Tigers." Parent's Day, which began in the 1960's, was originally Dad's Day but was changed as the Clemson family wanted to recognize both mothers and fathers for their support.

"Tiger Brotherhood is responsible for the preservation of these traditions which make Clemson so special and distinguish the university from other schools," said Tiger Brotherhood President West McAdams.

This year's Parent's Day is a very special day for many families as the parents of many Clemson students spend a day with their children. But for

What Is Tiger Brotherhood?

Tiger Brotherhood is a local selective, honorary fraternity. It still embraces the same basic tenets as established by its founders, led by Professor John Logan Marshall, in 1929. Enamored with ritual, the Tiger Brotherhood promotes high standards of social and ethical conduct, while recognizing in its members an earnest devotion to Clemson, coupled with the integrity of character commensurate with a typical Clemson gentleman.

Tiger Brotherhood embodies an unequalled cross-section representation of the Clemson community. Students, faculty and staff all work within the bonds of brotherhood to champion a closer relationship. One for all and all for one, with Clemson and its many traditions and undying spirit as our central focus, today provides viable, flexible and continuing forum for ideas and unending service to Clemson.

the Lindsay family it is one they will never forget as Tiger Brotherhood proudly salutes Carolyn M. Lindsay as the 1993 Mother-of-the-Year due to the love, effort, and devotion of time to her family and community that she has shown over the years.

Carolyn Lindsay is the 1993 Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year.

NCAA Rules Interpretation

You Make the Call

ATTENTION ALL HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

NCAA rules require you to be certified by the NCAA Clearinghouse before you can enroll as a student-athlete. You must follow these steps:

1. Obtain a Clearinghouse "Student-Release Form" from your guidance office.
2. Complete the "Form" and send the white part to the Clearinghouse in the envelope provided, along with $18 for processing. On the form you should check "Option 1", authorizing any institution to request information about you. In the alternative you may mark the codes of up to five institutions (Clemson's code is 3842). In that case, only those you mark will get your information.
3. Give the yellow and pink copies of the form to your guidance counselor at your high school. If you have attended more than one high school, make photocopies of the yellow and pink sheets and send them to your previous high school(s).
4. Your guidance counselor will use the yellow part of the "form" to send your current transcript and 48-H form. The guidance counselor will keep the pink copy to send your final transcript after you graduate.
5. When you register for the SAT or ACT test you must have the scores sent at that time to the Clearinghouse, even if you don't send them to any of the schools recruiting you. You must mark 9999 in the section on "college code choices" when you sign up. If you don't, it will cost more to have it sent later. Remember, each time you take the test, you must mark 9999 as well as any institutional codes.

If you do not follow these steps you will not be eligible to enroll as an athlete at any NCAA Division IA, I AA or II school.

If you cannot afford the $18 processing fee, your guidance counselor may apply for a fee waiver for you.

Should you have any questions concerning the Clearinghouse, you may call the Compliance Services Office at Clemson University at (803) 656-1580, or the Clearinghouse at (319) 337-1492.

Vickery Hall

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and, in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength-training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment—giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athletic Enrichment Services (SAES) has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisors' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athletic Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are, in turn, connected to a worldwide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D'Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life—academically, athletically, and socially, is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

The Vickery Hall staff realizes that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group's special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Vickery Hall was the first building in the nation built to meet the comprehensive academic needs of a university's athletes.

Freshman Success:

This program will seek to make the freshman's adjustment to college life easier by covering many areas of adjustment to university life.

Alcohol and Drug Issues:

The intent of this program is to provide the student-athlete with an overview of the disease of addictions and chemical dependence. Emphasis will be placed on providing basic awareness of how substance abuse affects individuals, families and athletic teams.

Current Topics of Concern:

The idea behind this segment of the Personal Growth Plan is to address issues that effect students such as human sexuality, birth control, date rape, etc.

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Personal Finance:

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Study Skills/Time Management:

These two topics are combined because a major part of developing good study skills involves having the time to delegate to studying. Objectives of this program are to expose student-athletes to different types of study techniques that are proven effective.

Motivation/Self-Esteem:

The objective of this program is to improve the level of self-esteem for student-athletes to positively impact their productivity in all areas of campus life.

Today's Band Program

by Beth McInnis and Brenda Rabon

Today is a special day for many Clemson students as they are reunited with their parents for a brief visit. For some students, it has been a while since they have seen their parents, and Parents' Day is an opportunity for them to spend some time together. Some students actually spend some time preparing for their parents' visit by cleaning up their room to make a good impression.

For some parents, it is rewarding to see their children attending Clemson University as second generation Tigers. Pride is seen in the faces of these parents as their children carry on the tradition. This gives the families an opportunity to share special memories together.

Many have said that Clemson is one big family, and this fact is proven as students spend time with their families this weekend. It is an opportunity for students to show their parents "their home away from home" and the different lifestyle they live away from them. This weekend in Clemson proves to be an interesting one as parents invade Death Valley.

Highlighting this special weekend is none other than Tiger Band. Under the direction of Dr. Mark Hosler, the band provides a special touch to all the Clemson football games. This week as the Tigers meet the Terrapins, the band will perform its traditional pregame show including "Washington Post," "God Bless America," and "The Star-Spangled Banner." Tiger Band will perform the Clemson University Alma Mater as the Tigers board the buses that will carry them around the perimeter of the stadium to the top of the hill. The band will then form two lines and march to the base of the hill playing "Sock It To 'Em." The cannon will then sound and the Tigers will pour into Death Valley as Tiger Band plays "Tiger Rag."

In keeping with pregame tradition, the band will spell out "Tigers" in script during pregame festivities. Today, as a part of Parents' Day, the Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year, Carolyn M. Lindsay, will dot the "i".

Carolyn is the proud mother of three children, all of whom are graduates of Clemson University. Ann Landgraft and Susan Bishop, 1968 graduates and Pickens M. Lindsay, a 1974 graduate are her proud children on this day. Each of Carolyn's children graduated from Clemson with honors. This Mother-of-the-Year has always opened her home and heart to Clemson people along with many others.

As the team gathers at the top of the hill, the band strikes up "Tiger Rag" and the Tigers roar into Death Valley. Without Tiger Band, the "most exciting 25 seconds in college football" would not be possible.

Today's halftime show features the music of Andrew Lloyd Webber, including music from some of his many Broadway classics. Some of the performance pieces include music from "The Phantom

Clemson Alma Mater

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness

Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Reign Supreme away.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers' roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

of the Opera," "Evita," "Jesus Christ Superstar," and "Cats." The show will conclude with the band spelling "Clemson" and exiting the field playing the "Song that Shakes the Southland...TIGER RAG!"

Most Clemson students can attest to the fact that the Tiger Band drum corps practices quite a bit. They make up the part of the band everyone hears the most. Not everyone realizes, however, what an impact the percussion corps has on Tiger Band.

The percussion section of the band is a select group of instrumentalists. Each fall an audition is held for the positions, which Dr. Hosler describes as "very competitive." In addition to the regular rehearsals, the percussion section practices an extra day each week. "They put in a lot of extra time, and they do a great job," continued Dr. Hosler. The percussion corps includes snares, quints, basses, cymbals and mallets and auxiliary pieces. In addition to regular performances with Tiger Band, the percussion corps also performs during basketball games and other special events. This year's percussion captain is Jason Barnhard, a senior majoring in secondary education-math from Orlando, Florida.

Today, as we honor the parents of Clemson's students, Tiger Band continues a tradition of excellence in its pregame and halftime shows. It is truly an honor for Clemson University to be represented by such a dedicated group of individuals. In addition to classes, each member of the band puts in at least seven hours of practice per week during the football season. On game day, a pre-dawn practice is conducted as a final warmup at the practice fields. This is followed by a parade to the stadium starting on the hill beside Johnstone Hall.

Game day always closes with a repeat performance of the Clemson University Alma Mater, another tradition Clemson students and parents alike can be proud of. Welcome Clemson parents, we honor you and thank you.

by Jaime Hill

The Clemson swimming program began its 1993-94 season last week at Fike Pool. The Tigers have a schedule that includes seven home meets for each team, the most ever. The men's team is dominated by freshmen and sophomores, but that doesn't discourage Head Coach Jim Sheridan. "We have better depth this year than during my past two years here as Head Coach." The team hopes that youth will work to an advantage during the course of the season, as the men's team is made up of 21 underclassmen and only seven upperclassmen. A large majority of the underclassmen have had some national exposure in the way of Junior Nationals, Senior Nationals, or Olympic Festivals.

The women's team returns seven upperclassmen, and there are 22 underclassmen. Some people might look at the youth of the women's team and immediately think that they won't be able to perform. Even with the abundance of new and inexperienced talent, the women's team has a lot of national meet experience. As with the men, the women also have experience in national competition.

Here is a rundown on both the men's and women's teams for this year:

Men

Freestyle—The additions of Junior National Qualifiers Jeff Cass and David Grendysz along with the experience of senior Chadd Alston will strengthen this season's freestyle crew. Cass (FR. Orlando, FL) and Grendysz (FR. Burke, VA) have the ability to sprint with Alston this year due to their national competition experience. Alston (SR. Yorktown, VA) looks to improve his top-10 performances at the ACC Championships in the 50 and 100 freestyle. At the Championships, Alston recorded the fastest time by a Clemson swimmer in the 50 free (20.60) and the fastest 100 free clocking (45.60). He is one of only three seniors on this year's team and will be looked to for leadership.

Backstroke—A mix of talent will bolster the backstroke event this season. The Tiger's top backstroke from a year ago, Jason Irwin (SO. Braselton, GA) is lost to a medical redshirt after undergoing shoulder surgery last year. Sheridan will look to sophomores Dan Aron (Stone Mountain, GA) and Scott Freese (Naperville, AL) to fill the bill. Freese, a scorer at the conference championships last season, has shaved several seconds off his times during the summer and preseason. Aron had significant time drops last season and looks to make a challenge in the ACC top-16 this season. Micah Pering (FR. Ft. Myers, FL) is a versatile athlete with the ability to swim in both the back and breaststroke.

Breaststroke—Sheridan confidently states, "At the backstroke we moved from what was our weakest event a year ago with just one swimmer in it to one of our strongest races." T.J. Fry returns to improve on his three top-10 finishes at the conference finals last year. Coach Sheridan is impressed with Fry's versatility. Chris Anderson (FR. Burlington, MA) and Landon Harris (FR. Decatur, GA) have Junior National experience and will be a big addition to the team. Along with freshman Mike Gadzinski (Jersey City, NJ), Harris and Anderson have the potential to score in the top eight at the ACCs.

Butterfly—With the loss of team MVP Henry Faris to graduation, the Tigers return their top two butterflyers in Jorge Anaya (SO. Guadalajara, Mexico) and Greg Monn (SO. Fredericksburg, VA). Anaya, the Central American Games champion for Mexico last summer, placed fifth in the 200 butterfly at last year's ACC Championships. Monn's improvement came over the summer with his 200 butterfly time dropping by five seconds. He looks to better his ninth-place finish at the ACC Championships.

IM—There will be a space to fill for the young IM'ers this season with the graduation of 200 IM record holder Henry Farris. Sheridan will call on the skills of T.J. Fry, Jeff Bowie (JR. Brentwood, TN), Chris Anderson (FR. Burlington, MA), and Bryan Parker to lead the Tigers. Bowie is coming off knee surgery last season and hopes to return to his freshman form where he made the top-five list in four events for the Tigers.

Diving—Senior Joe Somma (SR. Stanford, CT) returns to lead the divers this season. Somma placed third in the three-meter and fourth in the one-meter board events at last season's ACC Championships. "I think a year of experience makes Joe competitive in the conference for a top finish in both events," Sheridan stated. Mike Silvertooth (SO. The Woodlands, TX) also had a good summer of training, while improving on his degree of difficulty.

Lady Tigers

Freestyle—The freestyle events will have a significant amount of young talent to fill with the loss of All-American Paulette Russell to graduation. Sheridan will call upon sophomores Kathleen Wilcox (Ann Arbor, MI) and Anne Serina (Atlanta, GA), and freshmen Jennifer Daugherty (Lafayette, IN) and Priscilla Jones (Aiken, SC) to lead the Tigers in the freestyle relays. "We definitely have four women who will give us a 200 freestyle relay that can compete with North Carolina for the ACC Championship." Sophomore Kimberly Madden (Maywood, NJ) is coming off of a rebuilding season after an illness during her freshman year. Her success as a top-eight miler in the nation as a senior at Hackensack High School will give the team a renewed strength in the middle and long distance events. Junior Laura Yaroszewski (Fredericksburg, VA) is a versatile athlete who will be a major contributor to the sprint races. She made the Clemson top five list last season in the 200 freestyle and has the potential to finish in the top eight at the conference finals. The arrival of Mary Karen Dahms (FR. Orange Park, FL) and Sarah Borowski (FR. Spartanburg, SC) creates an intense competitive feeling among the freestylers.

Backstroke—Tiffany Jones (FR. Atlanta, GA) comes to Clemson with the work ethic of an Olympic champion. Over the summer she placed third at the Olympic Sports Festival and has been to both the Junior and Senior National swimming competitions. Sheridan is very confident in her abilities. "Tiffany is the fastest backstroke that we've ever brought to Clemson and we look for her to break several records. She has the skills to win both conference championships." Sheridan hopes to see junior Meredith Hale (Roanoke, VA) return to her conference form as she has been steadily recovering from shoulder surgery several years ago.

Breaststroke—Coach Sheridan is excited about the breaststroke talent coming to Clemson this season. The Tigers are increasing the number of swimmers in the breaststroke event from one last season to three this season. Amy Goetz (JR. Greer, SC), the only swimmer in the breaststroke event last season, recorded the fastest time by a Clemson swimmer at the ACC Championships in the 100 breaststroke (1:06.55). Goetz will be challenged by freshmen Kristen Kunkle (Elon College, NC) and Sara Thomas (Carmel, IN). Kristen spent the summer at the Junior National Championships where she gained exposure to the national competition. "Sara is the fastest breaststroke ever to sign with Clemson in the 100 breaststroke. Her best time is actually one-hundredth of a second faster than the young lady that won the conference last season."

Butterfly—This event will present a big challenge to the Tigers this season. The loss of Julie Borleske, who had the best time for a Clemson swimmer in the 100 butterfly (57.69) last season, will give the incoming freshmen a chance to challenge in this event. Freshmen Mary Karen Dahms (Orange Park, FL), Erin Franklin (Huntsville, AL), Mary Peyton Davis (Columbia, SC), and Sara Borowski (Spartanburg, SC) look to provide Clemson with a solid butterfly squad.

IM—Lara Yaroszewski and Amy Goetz, both juniors, lead the Tigers in both the 200 and 400 IM. Amy was a member of the 400 IM team that placed fourth at the ACC Championships last season. She cut 10 seconds off her time during last season and looks to improve on that accomplishment. Yaroszewski will be challenged in the 200 IM by freshmen Tiffany Jones (Lilburn, GA), Erin Franklin, and sophomore Kimberly Madden. Coach Sheridan will look to the newcomers to bolster the IM squad.

Diving—Clemson returns sophomore Megan Oakley (Boca Raton, FL), who placed eighth in the three-meter and 11th in the one-meter events at the ACC Championships last season. There is more depth on the squad this season due to the recruitment of JUCO diving champion Jodi Vitale (JR. St. Paul, MN). Another recruit signed by Coach Karla Helder is freshman Jessica Mason (Hammond, IN).

Sheridan has 43 underclassmen between the men's and women's programs, but many have Olympic Festival and Senior National experience.

The War Years

by Sam Blackman

Perhaps no other event in the history of the civilization has changed the world like World War II.

From this time new country borders appeared, the Iron Curtain was formed, and the nuclear age became a way of life—not to mention the suffering of millions of innocent people. These were all events that effect us today and will effect the world for generations to come.

Back home in the United States, World War II brought the American people together, perhaps the closest they have ever been, in an effort to win the war.

To help the war effort, morale was important on the war front and back home in the United States.

To keep the morale up at home, President Franklin Roosevelt encouraged Americans to keep up their customs and their unique way of life in an effort to increase the morale of the people. Major league baseball was at the top of his agenda in the continuation of this American way of life. During this era people were keeping track of Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak and the powerhouse New York Yankees. College football was another fiber in the fabric of the American way of life that was important in keeping up the morale of the people of the United States.

During these years 1941-1945, times were hard for many colleges trying to field a football team—many colleges disbanded football and some never came back. Most schools had players drafted right off the practice field. In 1943, Notre Dame quarterback, Angelo Bertelli played just six games because he received a midseason call from Uncle Sam. Bertelli still won the Heisman Trophy and received word of the honor while stationed at a base in South Carolina.

In 1946 after the war, service men returned to campuses across the country to finish their studies and athletic eligibility, giving the college football world a swollen pool of athletic talent it had never seen before.

"There were very few football teams during this time," said former Clemson Head Coach Frank Howard. "Travel was hard, money was tight, everything was hard. A boy would enroll one semester and be gone the next. Once the war was over with we had some good football teams with the return of our boys."

One example of a player enrolling and coming back was Frank Gillespie. Gillespie played football, basketball, and baseball during his Clemson career. He was also student body president and served on the student council. As if he were not busy enough, he earned two degrees, electrical engineering and textiles.

"When I came back to Clemson after missing time for the war, I noticed my throwing arm was not as good. But other than that I was still the same in other activities. The professors were willing to help and work with you. I had two good friends I studied with and this helped me a great deal. I didn't have much time for socializing.

"I didn't notice much difference at Clemson before and after the war. Coach Howard did not change either, he was still the same great coach."

Probably the one story that exemplified this era and the uncertainty of the times was that of Marion "Butch" Butler. Butler entered Clemson in 1940 and became one of the best tailbacks ever to play at Clemson. However, once World War II started, it was uncertain from one day to the next if he would be wearing the orange and purple of Clemson or the fatigues of Uncle Sam's Army.

One of America's allies during World War II was the ingenuity of the American people. The ingenuity of Coach Frank Howard helped Clemson keep its all-star tailback.

Butler came to Clemson in the summer of 1940. Coach Howard paid Butler to help with odd jobs around the Athletic Dept. before school started, something that was legal back then. Besides coaching football Howard also played matchmaker from time to time.

"There were only three dateable girls on our whole campus," said Coach Howard.

"Butch came and said to me, I don't like this place at all—there's nothing to do." Howard introduced him to Rox Rentz who lived next door to Howard. Later they dated and eventually were married. "It almost ruined me, then I didn't have but two dateable girls left. The whole football team almost quit." Butler recently celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary.

After a suc-

Butler played for the Tigers in 1945 thanks to a 60-day pass.

cessful year as Clemson's starting tailback in 1942. Butler was stationed at Fort Jackson in 1943 as an army private. But Howard arranged with his company commander (a Clemson graduate) for Butler to receive weekend passes so he could play football on Saturdays. Although he was not formally enrolled as a student at Clemson, this did not matter—a minute detail in that day and age compared to the events of World War II. NCAA eligibility rules were lax back then because of the war.

In the fall of 1945, Butch was still in service and Howard needed a tailback. Howard visited the commanding general at Fort Jackson and arranged for Butler to receive a 60-day pass. So Butler, his wife Rox and their new baby, arrived at Clemson just in time for the 1945 season. Butler was instrumental that year in Clemson wins over Tulane (47-20), Georgia Tech (21-7) and a 0-0 tie with South Carolina, still he was not enrolled as a student. Butler was probably the greatest unenrolled tailback in collegiate football history. Butler led the team in passing in 1942, 1943, and 1945, and led the Tigers in rushing in 1942.

However, Butch later graduated in 1946.

Dr. Bill Hunter, (a local Clemson physician) recalls his experiences during World War II and playing football at Clemson.

"The war started in December of 1941 with the bombing of Pearl Harbor. I played the next year and after the football season everyone enlisted. (Clemson was a military school.) I missed the 1943-45 seasons. I was in the Marine corps and flew with the Blacksheep squadron. In 1942 at Clemson, we had a small squad composed of teenagers. This was the first team that played in Memorial Stadium and ran down the hill. I started at right guard that season when I was only 18-years-old.

"While I was in service, Coach Howard would write me and I would get his letters on the carriers out in the Pacific Ocean. He would stress to us "stay in shape." The war ended in August 1945 but I was still on an air plane carrier in the Pacific. I played again in 1946 and 1947. However we suffered a lot of injuries both of these years. Tulane was the Florida State back in those days and I remember they beat us badly. When we arrived back in Clemson at the train station, the Clemson corp of cadets and town people met us at the train station and escorted us back to the campus. Situations like that will turn your blood orange.

"The noticeable change at Clemson after I returned from World War II was the veterans did not have to participate in the military drills. The married students lived in prefabricated housing. This was a big help to us veterans.

"When I was at Clemson before I went to war, I told Coach Howard I weighed 185 pounds when I actually weighed 170 pounds. I confessed to him after I left campus and was on the ship. When I came back after the war I really weighed 185 pounds."

Fifty years have passed since World War II. Just as was the case in the 1940s, underclassmen are being drafted before the end of their eligibility. The only difference is the organization doing the drafting. In the 1940s, it was the U.S. Army, today it's the National Football League.

Banks McFadden

by Bob Bradley

Usually when one gets out of the spotlight, his accomplishments soon fade and gather dust in some far off corner in the basement or attic.

But not Banks McFadden.

Now 76 and living in retirement in Clemson, Banks looks back with many fond memories and Clemson fans remember him as probably the greatest natural athlete ever to play for the Tigers.

Although he brought great pride to Clemson with his athletic ability, and later with his coaching, McFadden says, "working with the athletes and working for the people whom we had here at Clemson...it's been a tremendous life. It's something I'll never regret and I couldn't have asked for things to be better."

For some of you in the 'Pepsi Generation' who maybe have not read your Clemson athletic history too well, let me do a little refreshing on the one called "Bonnie Banks."

*Was named All-American in both basketball (1938-39) and football (1939) the same calendar year.

*Was voted the nation's most versatile athlete (1938-39)

*Led Clemson to its first conference basketball championship (1939)

*Led Clemson to its first bowl game and victory (1940 Cotton)

*Won three events in State Track Meet in one afternoon, setting records in all three of them. Earlier in the same year placed first in five events in a dual meet, scoring 25 points while the opposing team's total score was 28 points.

*Was Clemson's first first-round draft choice (1939 Brooklyn Dodgers)

*Has the second longest punt in Clemson history (75 yards vs. Army, 1937)

*Tied for the longest rushing play in Clemson history (90 yards vs. Presbyterian, 1939)

*Has the most punts for over 50 yards in a game (six vs. Tulane, 1939) and in a season (22 on 65 punts in 1939)

*Held Clemson punting record (43.5) for 40 years (1939 to 1979).

*First Clemson player invited to participate in the College All-Star game in Chicago.

*Charter member in the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame

*Charter member in the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame

*Only Clemson player ever chosen for the National Football Hall of Fame

*Highest NFL draft pick in Clemson history (#3 in entire 1940 draft)

That's 15 of his more noteworthy accomplishments, and it wouldn't take too long to dig out twice that many more. But those listed should be enough for the average sports buff to be impressed.

Banks played one year (1940) of pro football with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and led the NFL in yards per carry, but he didn't care at all for the big city life. Grass felt better under his feet than pavement so he returned 'home' and joined the coaching staff of Coach Frank Howard.

Banks coached the defensive backs for one year (1941) before joining the Army Air Corps and spending four years in North Africa and Italy. He was discharged as a colonel. He recalls that "after the war, everything began to blossom out", as far as college football was concerned.

One thing that 'blossomed out' was his marriage to "Aggie" Rigsby of Manning. As it appears sometimes with former athletes, former backs produce girls and he and "Aggie" had four of them—Patsy, Lil, Marcia and Jan. And the grandkids—there are nine of them—five boys and four girls. The McFaddens celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary this past June 13th.

McFadden had his uniform number in basketball (23) and football (66) retired in 1987. He was named the nation's most versatile athlete when he was an All-American in both sports in 1939.

McFadden came back to Clemson after his service and was again the secondary coach, this time for four years (1946-49), and then took over as head freshman football coach for five years before returning to coach defensive backs in 1955, a spot he held until Howard retired following the '69 season.

Besides his football coaching years, McFadden also put in a stint as varsity track coach, freshman basketball coach and was for 10 years the varsity basketball coach. Then after Howard resigned as football coach in 1969, McFadden took over the university's intramural department, which he directed for 15 years.

Asked if he had any favorites, McFadden said: "Fred Cone was a very steady player. But I'm not so sure that Joel Wells wasn't the best all around football player that I had the opportunity to work with as a varsity coach. He was one of the best defensive players we had and a mighty fine offensive player. For somebody who could go both ways, Wells stood out.

"When I was in high school, colleges could do almost anything they wanted to as far as recruiting went," McFadden remembers. "Schools didn't have much (scholarship) money to give away, but they did go out and look at people and try to talk them into coming (to Clemson), paying their own way (or what is called a walk-on today.) But there wasn't very much recruiting until '35 or '36. But I believe there were 25 or 30 on my freshman team (1936) who were getting aid." (Note: The Clemson IPTAY Club was founded in 1934).

The Great Falls native came to Clemson in a 6-3 frame and a skinny 165 pounds. Howard, an assistant coach at the time, said that if McFadden had drank a can of tomato juice, they could have used him as a thermometer.

"I can remember the first time I saw him on the practice field," Howard recalls. "He looked like one of those whooping cranes. I thought sure as the devil that Coach (Jess) Neely had made a mistake giving this boy a scholarship. But he proved me wrong."

Clemson had required military when McFadden was playing, but he believes that was a plus. "We were so much a team then, and that's still there. But now the rules allow two different teams (offense and defense) to work with and it causes so much more work. Our people were so close, as are the alumni of Clemson. Our team was just like the student body was then—a very close-knit bunch of people.

McFadden believes he "came to Clemson at the right time. I was blessed to have some athletic ability," he recalled. "We had great coaches, had great individuals playing (with me), but we were all playing as a team."

Of all of the honors he received as an athlete, being voted the most valuable player of the 1939 football team was his highest. "To me, when your teammates vote you something," he beams, "then you feel pretty good. That award meant more than anything else (to me)."

This is one athlete where a one-page story in a football program does not do that person justice...just about enough room for the tip of the iceberg. But if one could use just one word to describe 'Great' (as Howard called him), it would have to be 'competitor,' for he was just that.

And one more thing that the 'Pepsi Generation' can soak in—McFadden is the only Clemson athlete to have both his football jersey and basketball jersey numbers retired.

There hasn't been another like him down the pike.

Why some teams have a stronger bench than others.

Team Concept

When Yeargin Enterprises, a high quality oriented General Contractor selected its manufacturer for Metal Buildings, we selected only the best. American Buildings Company was the only supplier that could meet all of Yeargin's demanding standards for quality, cost effectiveness, service and on time delivery.
